CHICAGO AND NEW YORK.

MORE NEW BOOKS.

Chuck Purdy. The story of a New York boy. By W. O. Stoddard. 12mo, $1.25.

A capital story of boy life in New York City, strong, honest, breezy, practical and absorbing. By one of the favorite writers for young people.

The hero has some novel yet not improbable experiences, and not only the boys but their elders will be led along from chapter to chapter with eager interest.

Stories of Famous Precious Stones. By Mrs. Goddard Orpen. 12mo, $1.25.

A book on precious stones from which the dry details of the mineralogical treatise and the lapidary's catalogue have both been excluded is a good deal of a treat. Mrs. Orpen has not only chosen representative jewels, but she has given them an appropriate and fascinating setting.

"Primarily a collection of facts, the book has many of the fascinations of a romance."—Brooklyn Times.

In the Riding-School. By Theo. Stephenson Browne. 12mo, $1.00.

A bright, chatty series of talks with a supposed girl pupil. It contains minute reports of the elementary instructions given by French, English and American masters, and prepares the reader for private lessons, class lessons, exercise rides and music rides, and warns her of some of the difficulties of road riding. It also gives advice as to gymnastic exercise useful to the equestrian, hints as to dress in the school, and the latest fashions in dress for the road, with estimates as to cost.

Five Little Peppers Midway. By Margaret Sidney. Illustrations by W. L. Taylor. 12mo, 512 pages, $1.50.

"The author has lost none of her power to charm, for she writes from an experience in which wisdom and sympathy have been felicitously blended."—Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

"Margaret Sidney stands side by side with Louisa Alcott in fresh, unstilted style, in refined sensibility and in pure and wholesome depiction of home life among children."—Journal of Education.

On the Hills. By Prof. Frederick Starr. 12mo, $1.25.

A capital series of "geological talks."

The formation of glaciers, the discoveries of curious fossils, extinct fish, stones, birds, etc., coal formations, mountain making, earthquakes, erosion, are some of the subjects treated in this attractive book.

"Prof. Starr has made the pursuit of science really fascinating."—School Journal, New York.

Wednesday the Tenth. A tale of the South Pacific. By Grant Allen. 12mo, 75 cents.

A thrilling story of hardship and adventure among the islands of the Southern Pacific Ocean.

A Real Robinson Crusoe. 12mo, $1.25.

A remarkable book, detailing the adventures and strange experiences of a company of castaways on a Pacific island. It outwits the famous experiences of the fictitious Robinson Crusoe, and is strictly true from beginning to end. Edited at the narrator's dictation by J. A. Williams.

U. S.: Curious Facts in United States History. By Malcolm Townsend. 500 pages, full indexes. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 net; paper, 75 cents, net.

"As a volume to be kept on the desk for quick reference, 'U. S.' is admirably adapted, and the business man, editor, politician and citizen generally will find it a most useful compendium."—N. Y. Tribune.

"Should be in every private, public and school library in the country."—American Bookseller.

Aunt Hannah, and Martha, and John. By Pansy (Mrs. G. R. Alden) and Mrs. C. M. Livingston. 12mo, $1.50.

Aunt Hannah is the aunt of the young minister (John), and Martha is his wife, and two delightful women they are. The story has to do with the trials, joys and perplexities of a minister's life, and is decidedly pointed, graphic and full of interest. Both pastor and people will find valuable suggestions and food for thought.

Far West Sketches. By Jessie Benton Frémont. 12mo, $1.00.

Mrs. Frémont, beyond any other woman, saw the picturesque, the tragical, the humorous and the noble aspects of the pioneer movement.

Her experiences with Gen. Frémont in the early days of his romantic Western career have given her material for numerous vivid pen pictures of frontier life, whose charm is much increased by her attractive style of writing.

Finding Blodgett. The story of a boy and his dog. By George W. Hamilton. 12mo, $1.25.

A stirring story of effort and pluck, and how a boy labored for justice—and got it. An excellent bit of character sketching of life among the drovers.

Wide-Awake DD. Cloth, $2.00; boards, $1.50.

No young photographer can afford to go without Alexander Black's "Confessions," and their highly suggestive illustrations. All the young folks will be delighted with "Bony and Ban," by Mary Hartwell Catherwood, and that jolliest of boys' stories, "Gid Granger," by William O. Stoddard.

The Pansy for 1890. Boards, $1.25; cloth, $1.75.

Besides the usual entertaining miscellaneous matter, this volume contains two complete books by Pansy, and one by Margaret Sidney.

Our Little Men and Women for 1890.

Boards, $1.25; cloth, $1.75. It aims to get the little people interested in the wonders of the world they live in; and it does it. 75 full-page pictures and hundreds of smaller ones.

Babyland for 1890. With colored frontispiece. Cloth, $1.00; boards, 75 cents.

Bright stories, odd conceits, sparkling jingles, to make the baby laugh and learn together. "Polly Pry and Toddlekins" is a baby serial in twelve chapters.

Baby's Annual for 1891. Colored pictures and illustrations in black and white. Boards, $1.25.

A book of jolly good times for the very little people—quite enough to last them the whole year round.

THE LOTHROP MAGAZINES

Will offer unusual attractions for the forthcoming year of 1891. Among the attractions of WIDE-AWAKE will be four delightful serials.

Five Little Peppers Grown Up. By Margaret Sidney. Half a million people know all about the "Five Little Peppers and How They Grew." Fully a million will want to know how the Peppers "turned out."

On Time. A brilliant, realistic and exhilarating railroad story, by Kirk Munroe.

Marietta's Good Times. A really remarkable story of a real Americo-Italian girl, by Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archaubeau Van Dorn. By Elizabeth Cumings. A sparkling girls' story, full of entertaining people, ancestors, dolls and dogs.

OUR GOVERNMENT, a series of articles by Hon. John D. Long, will have a special value.

Besides short stories and practical papers, sketches, pictures, poetry and information by Mrs. John A. Logan, Susan Coolidge, Agnes Repplier, Elbridge S. Brooks, Harriet Prescott Spofford and other famous authors.

The younger magazines, "The Pansy," "Our Little Men and Women" and "Babyland" will also have a brilliant array of stories, poems and pictures, to delight their numerous subscribers.

Send for prospectuses and new catalogue.

D. LOTHROP COMPANY, Publishers, Boston.

To the Trade:

The undersigned, having purchased a number of plates with sheet stock of the Executors of the Robert Carter & Brother's Estate, will at once reissue such works in new style of bindings, and in most cases at reduced prices.

A full list of these new works to be added to our catalogue will be issued shortly. Among these may be mentioned the "Autobiography of John G. Paton," 2 vols.; the "Works of Rev. Richard Newton" and "Rev. W. W. Newton;" Secker's "Nonsuch Professor;" "Spurgeon's Sermon Notes," 4 vols.; and by the same author, "Feathers for Arrows," "Gleaning Among the Sheaves," "The Golden Alphabet," "All of Grace," and "Spurgeon's Gems."

In addition to these, the list will include many of the choicest works of Macduff, Guthrie, Bonar; also D'Aubigne's "Reformation", 5 vols., Kitto's "Bible Illustrations", 8 vols., and a number of juveniles.

Perhaps our most important purchase was the plates of the five-volume, large quarto edition of Matthew Henry's Commentary, but as we have an entirely new edition in press (ready Oct. 15) in large type, 6 vols., which will without doubt supersede all others except the very cheap edition, it is doubtful if we shall use these plates for the present at least. The cheap edition referred to (3 vols., issued by Messrs. Carters at $8.00) we also control. The list price will probably be advanced to $10.00 per set, but with long discounts will be supplied to the trade at a lower net price than heretofore.

A full price-list will be sent upon application. Early orders solicited.

FUNK & WAGNALLS.

(IN PRESS.)

THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD.

By EDWIN ARNOLD,
(Author of the "Light of Asia.")

In this poem, Jesus Christ is the "Light of the World," as Buddha is the "Light of Asia." About 250 pages. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This authorized edition will be printed direct from manuscript, now en route from Japan. The work will appear in America before it is issued in England. Ready this month. Mr. Arnold regards this as his greatest work.

SAMANTHA AMONG THE BRETHREN.

A NEW STORY.

By JOSIAH ALLEN'S WIFE.

This is Miss Holley's latest and very best book; indeed it makes one "smile through tears." Says a reader: "Samantha fairly outdoes herself." Says BISHOP NEWMAN: "It is irresistibly humorous and truthful; the best of all that has come from her pen." Copiously and characteristically illustrated by over 125 pictures. 12mo, cloth, $2.50.

Education in Heroism, or our Hero Stories, being 12 Biographies of 12 AMERICAN REFORMERS.

Dodge, The Christian Merchant; Charles Sumner, The Scholar in Politics; Henry Ward Beecher, The Pulpit Jupiter; Abraham Lincoln, The Emancipator; Dr. S. G. Howe, The Philanthropist; Wm. Lloyd Garrison, The Abolitionist; Jno. B. Gough, The Apostle of Cold Water; Jno. G. Whittier, The Poet of Freedom, and Frederick Douglass, The Colored Orator.

This series will continue with the appearance of a new volume every sixty days until completed (the first two are now ready). 12mo, uniform cloth, $1.50 per vol.

NOW READY.

WENDELL PHILLIPS, The Agitator.

By CARLOS MARTYN,

(Editor of the Series of 12 American Biographies.)

In an appendix is given in full three of Mr. Phillips' masterpieces of eloquence, viz., the famous lectures on The Lost Arts, the lecture on Daniel O'Connell and the Phi Beta Kappa Oration at Harvard. 591 pages, 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Bishop Potter: "An overmastering temptation to turn aside from everything else until I have finished it."

Jno. Wanamaker, P. M. General: "Am reading with very great satisfaction."

Hon. Abram S. Hewitt: "Has the charm of romance. . . . I do not know of any novel which has given me so much pleasure for many years. . . . I shall recommend all my friends to read the book."

Gen. O. O. Howard: "Delights my heart."

U. S. Senator Frye: "It is profoundly interesting."

Jno. G. Whittier: "Sincerely thank thee for thy excellent biography."

Geo. Wm. Curtis: "Have read life of Phillips with the deepest sympathy."

HORACE GREELEY, The Editor.

By FRANCIS NICOLL ZABRISKIE.

In this biography the author has produced a work of singular fascination. 398 pages, 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"Whoever reads the book will not regret it as time misspent. . . . Whoever misses reading it and the knowledge which it conveys of an original and extraordinary character, will suffer loss."—The Princeton Press.

"A book which the young, especially the boys, will surely read with interest and profit."—The Chicago Post.

"So vividly portrayed as to give us a striking picture of the man."—The Brooklyn Citizen.

"A very fresh, readable account of the life of this eccentric and remarkable man."—The St. Louis Central Baptist.
"The poor boy sitting with brothers and sisters around one milk pan on the floor, each dipping out his porridge with his own spoon . . . thrown on the world with only his hands, his head and his trade at twenty; entering New York with a coarse shirt, short pants, rough shoes, no stockings, with a pack on his shoulder and ten dollars in his pocket, and founding the mighty N. Y. Tribune! are so portrayed as to give us a striking picture of the man."—The Richmond (Va.) Christian Advocate.

NOTES IN SEASON.

WORTHINGTON COMPANY have just ready in their International Library Paul Heyse's "Children of the World."

HENRY ALTEMUS (The Philadelphia Bible Warehouse) has in preparation Jerome K. Jerome's new book, "Told After Supper."

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish on the 15th F. Marion Crawford's latest novel, "A Cigarette-Maker's Romance." They will also publish immediately Kipling's "The Book of the Forty-Five Mornings" and "Plain Tales from the Hills;" also, Gladstone's new book, "Landmarks of Homeric Studies."

MR. JOHN BARTLETT, 165 Brattle St., Cambridge, formerly of the firm of Little, Brown & Co., and well known as the author of "Familiar Quotations" and "The Shakespeare Phrase-Book," has now ready for delivery "A New and Complete Concordance, or Verbal Index to the Words, Phrases and Passages in the Dramatic Works of Shakespeare." It is a quarto volume (9½ x 11½) of 1650 closely printed pages, in good clear type and printed on paper of extra quality. It is a valuable addition to Shakespeareana, and it will be an invaluable handbook for reference to students and writers, presenting as it does words and quotations by a most comprehensive and easy method.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. publish to-day "Sidney," Margaret Deland's new novel; the holiday edition of Nathaniel Hawthorne's "Our Old Home;" a dainty edition of Lowell's "The Vision of Sir Launfal;" Birthday Editions of Oliver Wendell Holmes' "The Professor at the Breakfast Table" and "The Poet at the Breakfast Table," each in two volumes; "The Inverted Torch," a memorial volume, by Edith M. Thomas; "Legends and Lyrics," a selection of Whittier's poems, and "Pastorals, Lyrics and Sonnets," a selection of Wordsworth's poems, both in the White and Gold Series; a school edition of Horace E. Scudder's "Fables and Folk Stories;" and "Doctor Zay," a novel by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, in the Riverside Paper Series.

ROBERTS BROTHERS will publish on the 18th "Our New England," the text of which is by Hamilton Wright Mabie, and the illustrations photogravures from nature by A. W. Elson & Co., with remarques drawn by Frank T. Merrill; "The Day's Message," a dainty little volume of cheerful and helpful selections in prose and verse for every day in the year, chosen by Susan Coolidge, with a cover design by Mrs. Whitman; "Her Great Ambition," a story by Annie Richardson Earle; "The Drifting Island, or, slave hunters on the Congo," a sequel to "Kibboo Ganey," by Walter Wentworth, with illustrations by F. T. Merrill; and "In My Nursery," rhymes, chimes and jingles for children, by Laura E. Richards, author of "The Joyous Story of Toto," etc.

THE CASSELL PUBLISHING Co. will publish shortly "The Life, Letters and Friendships of Richard Monckton-Milnes, Lord Houghton," by T. Wemyss Reid, with portraits of Lord Houghton, who wrote more charming letters and had more distinguished friendships than almost any man of his time; "English Sanitary Institutions, reviewed in their course of development, and in some of their political and social relations," an exhaustive volume by Sir John Simon, the result of twenty-eight years' experience and of various official relations to the business of sanitary government, in which the author has avoided technicalities as far as possible; and a novel by Mrs. Burton Harrison, who has written almost perfect short stories, but has not yet tried so large a work as she has now undertaken in "Flower de Hundred," a story of a Virginian plantation, amusing, pathetic and historically correct, which it is said has been read by one of the best judges in the country, who has guaranteed it an immediate and lasting sale.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted: if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); (Q. 4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (16mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tl. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl. nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Adams, H: History of the United States of America, v. 5 and 6; the first administration of James Madison, v. 1 and 2. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1890. c. 4+428; 4+488 p. D. cl., $4.

"The great value of these volumes consists in the new light which they throw upon the exciting years of Madison's administration, when the attempt was making to retrieve the blunders of Jefferson's terms of office and to adjust the relations of the young republic with the great powers then at war. . . . The gradual alienation from France, the efforts through Erskine to secure the repeal of the Orders in Council, the failure of the administration to secure relief from British oppression on the high seas, and from insolence and arrogance in the negotiations to that end, the war debates of the XIIIth Congress, the declaration of war, with the invasion of Canada, and the victories of the United States vessels in the naval battles—these stirring events are pictured by Mr. Adams with simplicity and power."—The Book Buyer. A mass of important and significant material drawn from many sources—from the ms. archives of the State and War Departments at Washington, diplomatic correspondence, personal letters, etc., form the basis of the work.

Adams, J: The doctrine of equity: a commentary on the law as administered by the court of chancery. 8th ed., by Robert Ralston. Phil., T. & J. W. Johnson & Co., 1890. c. 839 p. O. shp., $6.50.

Aguilar, Grace. The mother's recompense. N. Y., G. Routledge & Sons, 1890. 532 p. il. 12°, cl., $1.25.

Alabama. A compilation of the laws of Ala. (and other states having statutes similar to this) on administrators and executors, guardians and trustees, [etc.], to which is added the jurisdiction of courts of probate and chancery in matters pertaining to the estates of decedents, [etc.], by W. D. Atkinson. Montgomery, The Brown Printing Co., st. prs., 1890. c. 682 p. O. shp., $5.

Alger, Horatio, jr. The odds against him; or, Carl Crawford's experience. Phil., The Penn Pub. Co., 1890. c. 2-349 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. A story for boys; the hero at sixteen is driven from home by a disagreeable stepmother, and goes into the world to seek his fortune.

American state reports. A brief digest to v. 7-12 of "American state reports;" with an index to the notes, and a table of cases reported in v. 1-12. San Francisco, Cal., Bancroft-Whitney Co., 1890. 1+174 p. D. cl., n. p.

Anglomaniacs (The). N. Y., Cassell Publishing Co., [1890.] c. 3+206 p. S. cl., $1.

As a serial in the Century, this story excited unusual interest. As a satire upon the fashionable American's worship of all things English, it is keen and pointed. The characters are a Mrs. Floyd-Curtis, one of the new rich of New York society, her beautiful daughter Lily, a Mrs. Clay—a New York girl who, having married an Englishman and having lost her money and husband, becomes a sort of adventuress—an ill-bred Countess and her worthless son, and a poor but highly-educated English professor. Lily's mother wants to sell her to the English Lord, but Lily makes a strong fight for liberty and her honest love for the professor.

Baker, M. N., ed. The manual of American water-works, comp. from special returns, 1889-90; cont. the history, details of construction, source and mode of water supply, pumping machinery, dams and reservoirs, filters, distribution, etc., of every water-works in the United States and Canada; also, directory of water-works officials, engineers and contractors. N. Y., Engineering News Pub. Co., Tribune Building, 1890. 840 p. il. 8°, cl., $3.

Barnes, Annie Maria. Children of the Kalahari: a story of Africa. Phil., Presb. Bd. of Pub., [1890.] c. 352 p. il. D. cl., $1.15.

A story of Africa: chiefly occupied with the narrative of the journeyings of the family of a martyred missionary through the Kalahari desert of Africa. A great deal of information is given concerning the country and people, and the missionary work in Africa.

Barrett, Frank. Between life and death. N. Y., United States Book Co., [1890.] 2+292 p. D. (Lovell's international ser., no. 125.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

The heroine's fate hangs "between life and death" throughout the whole story. If she lives to be twenty-one she inherits a fortune; but if she dies before that age it goes to her stepfather. The wicked stepfather and his equally wicked wife plan a succession of plots to murder the poor girl, all of which are frustrated.

Bartholomew, J. G. New hand-map of Central Africa, showing the route and discoveries of Stanley's Emin Relief Expedition. N. Y., T. Nelson & Sons, 1890. 16 x 12 in., 15 c.

Bennett, Mary E. Asaph's ten thousand. Bost., Congregational S. S. and Pub. Soc., [1890.] c. 2-325 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

This story describes the condition of affairs in a manufacturing town, where one man is the owner and sole director of a large business which he has built up himself. He owns the village as well as the mills, and his family of educated sons and daughters form the aristocracy of the place, in striking contrast to the mill-hands. Outsiders finally manage to stir up the hands to strike. The struggle is disastrous to both sides. Neither wins a victory, but both sides learn a lesson for the future.

- Boyesen, Hjalmar Hjorth. Against heavy odds: a tale of Norse heroism; il. by W. L. Taylor. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1890. c. 5+177 p. D. cl., $1.
The hero is a Norwegian lad who fulfilled his promise of becoming great through the invention of a whaler's gun. The difficulties which Ingomar Yang encounters before restoring his father's fortune and making his own name famous, is the theme of the story; but much interest will be felt in the chapters that tell of his acquaintance with Sir Robert, and of the incidents that led him to unite his fate to Ragna Pribenun.

- Carey, Rosa Nouchette. Lover or friend? N. Y., United States Book Co., [1890.] 2+487 p. D. (Lovell's international ser., no. 128.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.
The scene is laid in England. Audrey Ross suddenly promises to marry Cyril Blake, one of the masters in her father's school. At this juncture an unforeseen event places Cyril at a social disadvantage; upon Audrey's action during a crises much depends, finally the question of "Lover or friend?" is answered in a most interesting and unexpected way.

- Clafin, Mrs. Mary B. Bampton sketches: old-time New England life. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., [1890.] c. 4-158 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.
These sketches stand out as a truthful record of a peculiarly interesting provincial town, said to be Hopkinton, where Mrs. Clafin's grandparents lived. The quaint ways of the natives and their picturesque dialect are admirably reproduced.
- Clafin, Mrs. Mary B. Real happenings. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., [1890.] c. 2-46 p. D. hf. cl., 30 c.
Five simple, unaffected stories from actual life; they are pleasantly told, and filled with a warm feeling of love and humanity.
- Coignet, Jean Roch. The narrative of Captain Coignet (soldier of the Empire) 1776-1850; ed. from the original ms. by Lorédon Larchey; from the French, by Mrs. M. Carey; [il. by J. Le Blant.] N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., [1890.] c. tr. 8+318 p. O. hf. cl., $5; hf. leath., $2.50.
The record of the daily doings of a private soldier, who fought in many great campaigns under Napoleon. The style is marked by a quaint frankness and honest boastfulness that is very amusing; the writer is also shrewd and clever, his graphic portraiture making the Napoleonic days live again. Captain Coignet begins with his earliest youth, tells of his unhappy home, how in desperation he runs away, his love for horses and his skill in managing them, etc., etc.

Fernow, Berthold. The Ohio valley in colonial days. Albany, N. Y., Joel Munsell's Sons, 1890. 4-299 p. O. (Munsell's historical ser., no. 17.) bds., $5.

The author goes into the history of the discovery of the Ohio; a hitherto unknown ms. which he offers makes a claim of discovery by Connecticut parties in 1659; the chapter on the cartography of the Ohio speaks, probably, of all maps which give even the slightest indication of the river; the history of the Indians, who hunted in the valley, is as exhaustive as it could be in a work not treating specially of the aborigines. The chapters about the troubles and wars between the English and French can give nothing new, except in letters and papers hitherto not known. Among these the documentary history of the Ohio Company, organized by Washington's brothers, is specially to be mentioned. A concise account is given of what the colonies on the seaboard did in the conquest of the Ohio Valley from the French and Indians.

Field, Eugene. A little book of profitable tales. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1890. c. '89. 5+286 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Quite a number of these tales have a Christmas motive; young people will appreciate them as much as old. There are besides some of the author's best humorous tales, as "Bill, the lokil editor," "The little yaller baby," "Dock Stebbins" and "The cyclopedy," etc. The volume is beautifully printed, and bound in cadet blue and gold, uniform with "A little book of western verse."

Field, Eugene. A little book of western verse. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1890. c. '89. 8+202 p. D. cl., $1.25.

A collection of verses both mirthful and pathetic, in a dainty cover of cadet blue. Many are dialect verses of the west in Bret Harte's style, others have a New England flavor, and there are translations from Béranger and Horace. The New York Tribune says: "We never catch Mr. Field in a lame measure or in an awkward turn. He evidently composes with freedom, and there is thought as well as delicate fancy in his lullabies and pretty minor poems."

Glover, Elizabeth. Family manners. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., [1890.] c. 37 p. D. hf. cl., 30 c.

In this dainty little brochure we meet again with that piquant and sensible little dressmaker, Miss Fitts. She talks in her earnest, practical and at the same time witty style about the savage that seems still to lurk in the nature of people claiming to be thoroughly civilized and leads husbands to be rude to their wives, brothers and sisters rude to each other in a thoughtless way that they themselves would not tolerate in strangers.

Good things (The) of Life; seventh ser. N. Y., F: A. Stokes Co., 1890. c. 64 p. il. obl. O. cl., $2.

Sixty-two full-page cartoons out of Life; they are all figure pictures cleverly satirizing the "400."

- Hutton, R. H. Cardinal Newman. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1890. 4+251 p. por. D. cl., $1.
"The whole of this little essay was written and in type, and most of it corrected for the press, before Cardinal Newman's death. I thought it better, considering the smallness of the space available for the treatment of so great a subject, to devote the main part of the book to the study of Dr. Newman's life before leaving the Anglican Church; in other words, to the course of thought which led him to the Church of Rome, and to compress the latter part of his career into a single long chapter."—Preface. Mr. Hutton is editor of the London Spectator.

- James, W. The principles of psychology. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1890. c. 2 v. 10+689; 6+704 p. O. (American science ser., advanced course.) cl., $6.
One of the fullest treatises on the subject yet published; it has in the main grown up in connection with the author's class-room instruction in psychology in Harvard University. Prof. James has kept close to the point of natural science throughout the book, rejecting both the associationist and the spiritualist theories, "and," he says, "in this strictly positivistic point of view consists the only feature of which I feel tempted to claim originality." The subjects discussed are: The scope of psychology; The functions of the brain; On some general conditions of brain activity; Habit; The automaton theory; The mind-stuff theory; Methods and snares of psychology; Relations of minds to other things; The stream of thought; The consciousness of self; Attention; Conception; Discrimination and comparison; Association; Perception of time; Memory; Sensation; Imagination; Perception of space; Perception of reality; Reasoning; Instinct; Will; The emotions; Hypnotism, etc.

Lee, Alfred E. European days and ways. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1890. c. 3-376 p. il. O. cl., $2.

Has chapters on General Grant at Frankfurt in 1877; on William I. as King of Prussia and Emperor of Germany; German social and family life; How the Germans educate; Some glimpses of Holland; Among the Austrian Alps; Through Sicily, etc.

Lee, Mrs. Frank. Knives and forks; or, dwellers in Meriden. Bost., Congregational S. S. and Pub. Soc., [1890.] c. 2-402 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The author contrasts two sets of characters, such as are usually to be found in a country town of the Middle States—the young people of the rich and cultured, and the young men and women who are from the poor and shiftless families. The task the writer sets herself is to bring these two antagonistic elements together, so that the influences for good may prevail. The interest centres mainly in Mart Conner, one of the roughest of the poorer set, but with some inherent noble qualities.

A tasteful reissue of this famous poem, which criticised with great freedom and discrimination many American authors of forty years ago. A fac-simile of the original rhymed title-page is given, and the portraits of the twenty-six authors, by Joseph Linden Smith, criticised, add an element of no small interest.

McCartha, C. L. The lost tribes of Israel; or, Europe and America in history and prophecy. Phil., printed by J. B. Lippincott Co., 1890. c. [For sale by the author at Greensboro, Ala.] 210 p. D. cl., $1.

A brief description is given of the characters of the twelve sons of Jacob. The author then looks over modern nations and decides from national characteristics from which tribe they must be descended. For example, the French are descendants of Reuben; Swedes and Danes of Zebulon; the Dutch of Issachar; Spaniards of Dan; Germans of Gad; English of Joseph; Russians of Asher, etc., etc. He thinks these tribes are now reuniting in the Republic of the United States.

Marlow, Sidney. Harry Ambler; or, the stolen deed. Phil., The Penn Pub. Co., 1890. c. 4-361 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

A story of a bright, active and courageous boy, suddenly thrown upon his own resources and subjected to the malicious plots of a powerful enemy.

Marryat, F. Novels, 13 v. New ed. N. Y., Ward, Lock & Co., 1890. 12°, hf. leath., ea., 75 c.

Meredith, W. T. Not of her father's race. N. Y., Cassell Publishing Co., [1890.] c. 4+291 p. D. (Cassell's sunshine ser., no. 56.) cl., 75 c.; pap., 50 c.

Jennie Andersen was the child of a white father and a mulatto mother, and born out of wedlock. In Virginia, her home, though as white as her father, she was adjudged a negro, and grew up with negroes, and was educated with them. Her father comes into possession of a large sum of money, and sends Jennie north to finish her education. She grows so beautiful and attractive, that he acknowledges her as his daughter and introduces her to New York society. Her career here, the admiration she excites, and the effect her true story has upon those who know her, point a striking moral.

Merrick, Mark. The great Travers case: a wonderful story of a most remarkable mystery. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1890.] c. 4-201 p. 1 il. D. (Secret service ser., no. 36.) pap., 25 c.

The story of a worldly young man who, falling ill in India, is cared for by a missionary's family, and becomes converted to a most unworlly Christian life. He afterwards returns to the great city of his home, and devotes himself to good works. He is joined by a younger sister, and the book describes the good work done by them on behalf of working-women and others.

Meyer, Conrad Ferdinand. The tempting of Pescara; from the German by Clara Bell, rev. and cor. in the U. S. N. Y., W. S. Gottsberger, 1890. c. tr. 2+184 p. S. pap., 25 c.

Italy is the scene, the sixteenth century the time. The opening incident is in the Castle of Milan, where the Chancellor Morone subjugates his sovereign Francesco Sforza, Duke of Milan, by arousing his fears for the safety of his Duchy. The price of Vittoria Colonna's loyalty to Charles V. of Naples was a mythical crown. Pescara her husband was to fall through her; upon this the interest depends. An idea is given of the workings of the political factions of the time, and many famous personages are introduced.

Thornton, J. Primer of book-keeping. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1890. 11+140 p. 16°, cl., 35 c.

Tolstoi, Count Lyof N. Count Tolstoi's gospel stories; from the Russian, by Nathan Haskell Dole. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., [1890.] c. 4+243 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Sixteen short sketches of Russian life. Simply written and inspired generally by some pregnant text of Scripture. The translator says in his brief preface: "Nowhere has Count Tolstoi's genius as a writer been more wonderfully displayed than in his tracts for the people. Written in an artless style, they are vivid, dramatic, touching. Their very simplicity adds to their charm." Among them is that exquisite little legend, "Where love is, there God is also," which in booklet form has had such a wide circulation.

Tolstoi, Count Lyof N. Labor: the divine command; made known, augmented and ed. by Count Tolstoi; tr. by Mary Cruger. Chic., Laird & Lee, 1890. 2-160 p. por. D. (Pastime ser., no. 44.) pap., 25 c.

"Labor" is the work of Count Lyof Tolstoi and of the peasant Timothy Bondareff. But it is not, properly speaking, a collaboration. The book is composed of two different studies, one by Tolstoi entitled "The work and theory of Bondareff," which serves as introduction to the other, which is by Bondareff, and is entitled "Labor, by the peasant Bondareff." Whether Bondareff is a real or mythical figure is difficult to decide. Tolstoi introduces him as a peasant who at the age of sixty-five composed an essay based on his reading of the Bible, in which he sought to prove that salvation after death could only be found through manual labor in this world. It is said his book was suppressed by the Russian Government.

Tovey, Duncan C., ed. Gray and his friends: letters and relics, in great part hitherto unpublished. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1890. 16+312 p. 12°, cl., $2.

Twilight stories in large type for little readers. N. Y., G: Routledge & Sons, [1890.] no paging, il. O. bds., 75 c.

Van Dyke, H: J., D.D. The church: her ministry and sacraments: lectures delivered on the L. P. Stone foundation at Princeton Theological Seminary in 1890. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1890.] c. 8+265 p. O. cl., $1 50.

The subjects are: The holy Catholic Church; The kingdom of Christ; The unity of the visible church; The church membership of infants; Ordination of the ministry; The Lord's supper; The administration of the sacraments.

Ver-Planck, Mrs. J. Campbell. The wonderlight, and other tales: true philosophy for children. N. Y., The Path, 132 Nassau St., 1890. c. 4+81 p. D. cl., 50 c.

Tales for children, in which an attempt is made to set forth the doctrines and teachings of theosophy.

Vincent, Marvin R., D.D. Word studies in the New Testament. V. 3, The epistles of Paul: Romans, Corinthians, Ephesians, Philipians, Colossians, Philemon. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1890. c. 40+564 p. O. cl., $4.

The author's plan of explaining for the benefit of English readers the meaning of all the significant Greek words, and of tracing their history, is continued. An introduction gives an account of the several epistles treated in the present volume. A list of authors and editions is given, in addition to those cited in vols. 1 and 2.

Warren, D: M. Warren's new physical geography; by W: H. Brewer. Phil., Cowperthwait & Co., [1890.] c. 144 p. il. and map, F. cl., $1.50.

Essentially a new book prepared by Prof. W: H. Brewer, of Yale Univ., in which the facts and phenomena of the physical world are presented in the light of recent scientific investigations. The same methods of treatment are employed as have for more than thirty years maintained the popularity of the original treatise.

Webster, Noah. Webster's international dictionary of the English language: being the authentic edition of Webster's unabridged dictionary, comprising the issues of 1864, 1879 and 1884; thoroughly rev. and enl. under the supervision of Noah Porter, D.D.; with a voluminous appendix. Springfield, Mass., G. & C. Merriam & Co., 1890. c. 64, '90. 98+2011+3 p. il. F. shp., $10; hf. tky. or hf. rus., $12.50; full rus., $15; 2 v., shp., $12; 3 v., cl., $10.

For ten years a large corps of scholars have been at work at the "Unabridged," re-editing it line by line, enriching it by new matter, eliminating old material and correcting errors; the technical subjects have been trusted to eminent specialists, who have brought them in line with the more recent discoveries. The number of illustrations has been increased to nearly 4000, and about two thirds of them are entirely new. To allow for the new material the page has been slightly enlarged and more pages added. The vocabularies, tables, etc., in the appendix of the former editions have been perfected and brought fully up to date. In its general aim and scope, and in its ground-plan of construction, the present edition does not greatly vary from its predecessors. A valuable new article has been added on "Indo-Germanic roots in English," by August Fick. "The guide to pronunciation" shows in its synopsis of words differently pronounced by different orthoëpists, the substitution of the more recent authorities for the old ones, proving that the present pronunciation is a digest of the researches of the philologists of the world.

Weidner, Revere Franklin. Studies in the book: second series; cont. studies on I. Thes., II. Thes., Gal., I. Cor., II. Cor. and Romans. N. Y. and Chic., Fleming H. Revell, 1890. 12°, cl., $1.

Wesselhoeft, Lily F. The winds, the woods and the wanderer: a fable for children. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1890. c. 2-298 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

The author has aimed to depict an artistic temperament that is misunderstood by the practical natures by which it is surrounded. Edmund Merton's troubles all come from his love of drawing pictures. To make him practical his uncle sends him to work on a farm. Edmund runs away from the farmer, ships on a sailing vessel, is almost lost at sea, but finally comes to land. In the course of his wanderings he meets an Indian boy with the same artistic temperament as himself, and a strong sympathy grows up between them. The forest trees talk together, as did the birds and animals in the author's other books.

Whitney, Mrs. A. D. T. Ascutney street: a neighborhood story. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1890. c. 2+259 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The lesson Mrs. Whitney teaches in this bright story is "that reality, sincerity, unselfishness and noble aspiration make life not only worth living, but infinitely more sane and beautiful than low aims and pretence can make it." A pretentious little street in a New England town is the scene. The dwellers in the pretentious little houses in Ascutney Street are the characters. The bright dialogue, the author's keen wit and insight are the chief attractions in a delightful story.

Wide-awake stories for the young. N. Y., G: Routledge & Sons, [1890.] no paging, il. O. bds., 75 c.

Woolfall, F. Hartley, ed. The international reciter: cont. over 140 poetical selections from the English poets, for the home, platform and school: with biog. sketches of the authors. N. Y., Woolfall, Clark & Zugalla, 1890. Pt. 1, 144 p. 4°, cl., 50 c.; pap., 25 c.

Wolff, Julius. The robber count: a story of the Hartz country; from the 23d German ed., by W. H: Winslow and Elizabeth R. Winslow. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., 1890. c. tr. 2+326 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The scene is in that beautiful and picturesque region of the Hartz Mountains dominated by the Brocken. The time is during the imprisonment of Pope John XXII. at Avignon, and the motive lies in the great struggle between the gallant and noble Albrecht von Regenstein, known by his enemies as "the Robber Count," and the ambitious Bishop of Halberstadt for supremacy in the Hartz country. It is a story full of poetry, charm and adventure.

Young, Rev. L. F. Studies in Bible and church history and doctrines: prepared for the use of Epworth leagues; with an introd., by J. F. Marlay, D.D. Cin., O., Printed for the author, Western Methodist Book Concern, 1890. c. 96 p. por. S. cl., 40 c.

In the form of a catechism this little book gives instruction in Bible study, and in the history of Methodism, defining the doctrines of the Methodist Church and avoiding speculative questions entirely. The book is the outgrowth of successful work among young people. It is recommended as a manual worthy to take its place in the Epworth League reading course.

Zickel's illustrirter deutsch-amerikanischer Familien Kalender, 1891. N. Y., S. Zickel, 129 Duane St., 1890. 64 p. 4°, pap., 25 c.

Zoe, by the author of "Miss Toosey's mission." Bost., Roberts Bros., 1890. 2-181 p. D. cl., 60 c.

The story opens in Dawnside church, at a baptism: the clergyman's request for the infant's name leads to confusion, and forecast's a mystery in the young heroine's life. The interest of the story is centred in the discovering of Zoe's identity, although the romantic incident which led to her odd naming has a special charm and romance, and the reconciliation of Mr. Robins and his daughter supplies a pathetic element that is present in all the previous books by this author.

PERSONAL NOTES.

JOSEPH HADLEY, formerly with Charles Scribner's Sons, has recently entered the employ of the Lovells.

A. D. HURD, formerly of Cupples & Hurd, is now connected with the manufacturing department of the United States Book Co.

JOHN HOVENDON, late with the Orange Judd Co., has associated himself with the Lovells, and is in charge of their branch in Lafayette Place.

DAVID S. KNOX has severed his connection with the book trade, and now represents the Equitable Life Assurance Society of 287 Broadway, New York City.

THE T. VOLUME.—"Does your cyclopedy tell anything about the toothache?" "I think so, mum; it touches on all useful information. We haven't published the T volume yet." "Well, you can put me down for a T volume, an' if it goes ahead of our almanick on toothache cures, I'll take the whole set."—Harper's Weekly.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

OCTOBER 11, 1890.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF A BOOK-SELLER.

WE wonder to how many in the book trade it has ever occurred that their business is one of great responsibility, and that they may, indeed, be agents for evil as well as good! A druggist, the world over, is not allowed to sell poisonous drugs to children; and even when he sells them to grown people, he is compelled in many countries to take certain precautions, so that no harm may arise. The bookseller, on the other hand, is subjected to no restriction, to no surveillance, and need render no account. He may sell the most pestiferous trash, poisoning the minds and arousing the passions of youth, without let or hindrance, excepting, possibly, when some agent of a society for the suppression of vice feels obliged to earn his salary, or somebody else is in need of a boom to his reputation. He may every day sell with impunity police gazettes and other sheets familiarizing readers with every kind of vice and crime, hardening the feelings and corroding the conscience, until crime and wickedness become so familiar that indulgence in one and perpetration of the other almost become matters of course. While we do not expect, nor even wish, booksellers to band themselves together as an Association for the Sale of Godly Books, we hope that the time will come when members of the book trade, especially those connected with the periodical part of it, will positively refuse to sell, or keep in their stores, such printed matter as common sense tells them is dangerous. They may lose in the beginning by such a course, but only to benefit in the end, besides having the satisfaction of knowing that they are in some degree helping to elevate the standard of morality among their fellow creatures. If booksellers would but consider the greatness of their mission, they would see that they wield an enormous power. It may be a poor trade; it may yield but a scanty return for the time and labor expended; it may be that those who ought to encourage honest, respectable members, do not; but the consciousness that they are promoting the cause of sound morality will in itself be no small reward.

AT the opening session of the International Literary Congress, which met this week in London, the permanent Secretary, in making his report on the prospects of international copyright in America, attributed the defeat of the Breckinridge-Chace bill to "the prevailing unquenchable antagonism to England," "the antagonism at home between the Eastern and Western States," and "the unwillingness to pay for what is not ours, but which it is in our power to seize without paying for." The Secretary evidently was carried away by righteous indignation, and in that condition lost sight of the exact facts. As to the "prevailing unquenchable antagonism to England" and that "at home between the Eastern and Western States," we doubt whether that feeling existed anywhere but in the active imagination of Mr. Lemina. On the other hand, it was the general opinion of the press at the time the measure was rejected in the House of Representatives that it failed not because Americans are unwilling to pay for what they get, but because their representatives in Congress, with the timidity characteristic of the average statesman, so misjudged them as to believe that they preferred to buy stolen books for a song rather than pay a fair price for books honestly come by. We firmly believe that this blot will not rest upon the reputation of the American people much longer, and that possibly at its next meeting the International Literary Congress may be able to congratulate its American co-workers upon the success of their labors.

THE BRITANNICA COPYRIGHT LITIGATION.

IN the suit of Charles Scribner et al. vs. the Henry G. Allen Company, involving the copyright of certain material contained in the "Encyclopædia Britannica," Judge Lacombe, in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York, on the 6th inst., made an order denying the motion to compel the plaintiffs to amend their bill of complaint so as to make it more definite and certain. The Judge furthermore directs the defendants to plead, answer or demur to the complaint within five days. In the similar suit in which James T. Black et al. are the complainants, a like decision was handed down.

SALE OF ROBERT CARTER & BROTHERS' PLATES.

WE present herewith, in alphabetical order, a list of the plates disposed of at the executor's sale (at Bangs & Co.'s, September 23,) of the stock of plates and books formerly published by Robert Carter & Bros., together with the names and addresses of the parties that purchased them. In almost every case the firm that bought the plates bid in the books (bound and in sheets) already printed from them that remained in stock at the time of the sale, so that booksellers in need of supplies of any of the books sold may safely address the new owners. A list of the books not sold is also given. These will be retained by the estate of Robert Carter & Bros., to be disposed of later.

INTERNATIONAL LITERARY CONGRESS.

THE International Literary Congress met in London, October 7. Jules Lemina, the permanent Secretary, presented a rather doleful report on copyright in America, regretting the defeat of the international copyright bill last May. He proposed that the Congress send its thanks to all in America who had defended the good cause.

Count Keratry, speaking from experience, considered Mr. Lemina's report too gloomy, and thought that a successful issue might be expected far sooner than the report indicated. It had been easy hitherto, he said, under the rules of the House of Representatives, for a few active opponents to prevent a copyright bill from arriving at the stage of discussion, but the recent accession to power of Mr. Reed, a great friend of the copyright association, would render such tactics more difficult. Secretary Blaine, President Harrison, ex-President Cleveland and other prominent Americans have favored the bill, which would have been passed if all the absentees had voted. A fresh bill, he said, would be discussed in December, and this bill, he declared, would pass.

The Secretary's proposal was adopted.

During the second day's session M. Chaumat presented a resolution declaring that literary articles in newspapers and magazines should be regarded as the property of the writer, while news and other paragraphs should be open for reproduction. Count Keratry introduced a resolution thanking the American Copyright League for its efforts to promote international copyright. Both were adopted by a unanimous vote.

CONFERENCE OF THE NEWSDEALERS.

On the 7th inst. about eighty delegates from eight States assembled in the hall of the Ancient Order of United Workmen at 510 Sixth Ave., N. Y. James G. McMurray was in the chair. The discussion largely turned on the subject of devising means whereby the power of the American News Company could be broken. The debate ended in the adoption of a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of three, whose duty it should be to organize a stock company to compete with the American News Company, the stock to be offered to newsdealers for six months. If by that time sufficient money had not been subscribed, outside capital should be invited to invest. The committee consists of President McMurray, P. J. Henzel, of Albany, and editor Daly, of the Newsman, who offered the resolution.

A resolution offered by E. J. Nieuwlander, of New York, instructing the Executive Committee to ask the Postmaster-General to establish a system in connection with the mails whereby newsdealers throughout the country could be supplied with their newspapers, books, and periodicals at the lowest possible rates, was also adopted. Editor Daly was appointed as the representative of the Association to appear before the Committee on Post-Offices and Post-Roads on matters affecting the interests of the newsdealers.

The following officers were then elected: President, James G. McMurray; Vice-Presidents, C. B. Swift, Philadelphia, and Miss E. Denroche, Friendship, N. Y.; Secretaries, John L. Butman, Lincoln, R. I., B. F. Gordon, New York, and J. M. Shawcross, Providence, R. I.; Treasurer, John R. Suter, Brooklyn; Executive Committee, P. J. Henzel, Albany, D. E. Sullivan, Providence, R. I., J. A. Roys, Detroit, Mich., P. J. McGrath, Brooklyn, and E. C. Rahne, Philadelphia.

WESTERN PUBLISHERS ON THE NEW TARIFF.

A SPECIAL despatch to the New York Evening Post, dated Chicago, October 7, says: "The book-publishing interest of this city, which represents an invested capital of many millions of dollars, is appalled at the prospect of the trade in the light of the new Tariff Bill. Outside of paper and type, everything entering into the manufacture of books has been materially advanced. The duty on Dutch metal, not one pound of which is made in this country, and which cannot consequently be called a protected industry, has been doubled, and consequently its price has advanced from 75 cents to $1.50 per pack. A single bookbinding firm, which some time ago accepted a contract based upon the old figures, and which calls for the consumption of 100 packs of [this metal per day for the next three months, finds itself involved in a loss upon its contract figures of $75 a day for this period upon this item alone. The President of one of the largest subscription-book publishing-houses in the city states that upon a careful figuring of the advanced tariff rates, as applied to his total business for the year ending September 30, the bill will increase his expenses by a minimum of $25,000 during the coming year. On the other hand, owing to the competition in the publishing trade, it will be impossible, he says, to add even 1 per cent. to the price of the books issued by the house. The firm must either stand the entire loss or seek to recoup itself in some proportion by reducing salaries and commissions."

AUTHORS SEEKING NEW MARKETS.

From the Commercial Advertiser.

A FEELING of restlessness has taken hold of our famous fiction writers, and not a few of them will be found browsing this winter in entirely new literary pastures. Frank Stockton, for example, tears asunder from the Century, and his next serial story will appear in the Atlantic Monthly. The Atlantic, if it gains Stockton, loses Charles Egbert Craddock, since that rather erratic little woman has sold her next novel to Harper's. Then, Harper's will lose Howells' next long novel, which has been bought by a syndicate of newspapers. Scribner's, which generally has the first "call" on Robert Louis Stevenson's work, does not get the novelist's "South Sea Letters," the exclusive right to these having been bought by the New York Sun for $10,000. Sarah Orne Jewett makes her debut this winter to a new constituency of readers in the Ladies' Home Journal, which periodical has also bought Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney's next novel. And thus the order for "all change" has seemed to go along the literary line.

The book publishers, especially those houses which do not issue a magazine, are not very much pleased at the growing tendency of fiction writers to give first publication to their novels in serial form. It is exceedingly rare nowadays to see a novel from a well-known pen appear first in book form. The reason is that the author is realizing more and more the double revenue and larger reputation to be had from double publication. Good novel-writers, who can add a famous name to a good piece of work, are undoubtedly scarce, and with the keen competition among magazines, the prices have increased. Whether serial publication helps or injures the sale of a book is an open question. Publishers differ on this point, and in its discussion the author naturally takes no part. If his work be popular he can dictate to the publisher, and the latter must bow or lose the novel. The time has passed for referring to the "poor author;" it is the publisher who will deserve that appellation more in the near future. The shoe is, indeed, already pinching on the other foot.

CLERICAL CONSISTENCY.—First Deacon: The minister preached a fiery sermon against novel-reading last Sunday. I tell you it must have had an effect upon the young ladies of the congregation who read fiction. Second Deacon: Is that so? From where did he take his text? First Deacon: Oh, from one of the New Testament parables, I believe.—Puck.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

THE WORLD'S FAIR COMMITTEE have completed their system of classification and from it the architect will at once commence to draw plans for the buildings for which the system provides. It provides for twelve departments, which are to be cut into divisions. These departments are:

A—Agriculture, farm machinery and appliances, forestry and forest products.

B—Viticulture, horticulture and floriculture.

C—Live stock, domestic and wild animals.

D—Fish, fisheries, fish products and apparatus for fishing.

E—Mines, mining and metallurgy.

F—Machinery.

G—Transportation and intercommunication.

H—Electricity and electrical appliances (electrical exhibits will also be found in other departments of the Exposition).

I—Manufactures.

K—Fine arts: opictoral, plastic and decorative.

L—Music, education, literature, engineering, public works, sociology.

M—The progress of human labor and invention.

FOREIGN BOOKS ON THE FREE LIST.

It may be expected that books printed in foreign languages will hereafter be sold much cheaper than heretofore, as the duty has been taken from all books printed in other than the English language. The clauses of the tariff act which will interest booksellers and readers of foreign literature are the following under the free list clauses of the bill:

512. Books, engravings, photographs, bound or unbound, etchings, maps and charts, which shall have been printed and bound, or manufactured more than twenty years at the date of importation.

513. Books and pamphlets printed exclusively in languages other than English; also books and music, in raised print, used exclusively by the blind.

514. Books, engravings, photographs, etchings, bound or unbound, maps and charts imported by authority, or for the use of the United States, or for the use of the Library of Congress.

515. Books, maps, lithographic prints and charts, especially imported, not more than two copies in any one invoice, in good faith, for the use of any society incorporated or established for educational, philosophical, literary or religious purposes, or for the encouragement of the fine arts (246), or by any college, academy, school or seminary of learning in the United States, in its own behalf or in behalf of any of its professors or teachers, subject to such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe.

516. Books or libraries, or parts of libraries, and other household effects of persons or families from foreign countries, if actually used abroad by them not less than one year, and not intended for any other person or persons, nor for sale.

OBITUARY NOTES.

THE REV. DR. GEORGE BARRELL CHEEVER died at Englewood, N. J., Oct. 1. He was born at Hallowell, Me., April 17, 1807. He was a classmate at Bowdoin College with Longfellow, Hawthorne and Jonathan Cilley. He was prominent in temperance reform and in the anti-slavery movement. From 1839 to 1870, when he retired from the ministry, he filled the pulpits of the Allen Street Presbyterian Church and the Church of the Puritans in New York City. Part of this time he was also the principal editor of the New York Evangelist. His writings were largely controversial and on religious subjects.

ALPHONSE KARR, a celebrated and prolific French author who was probably better known forty years ago than now, died recently at San Rafael, aged 82 years. In 1839 he was chief editor of the Figaro, for which he wrote an Aristophanesque journal, "Les Guêpes," every number of which made a literary sensation. Seven years before the editor of Figaro had rejected his first manuscript. Since 1866 he devoted himself exclusively to the cultivation of flowers. The Karr dahlia was named after him.

JOHN H. HEWITT, the poet and musician, and known as the father of the American ballad, died at his home in Baltimore, on the 7th inst. He was born July 11, 1801, in New York City. At the beginning of his career he was engaged in business, and was afterward educated for the army. He then studied law, and was successively a musician, editor and essayist. Mr. Hewitt's father was Professor Hewitt, a leading musician of his time, who came from England in 1794. He married Eliza King, only daughter of Sir John King.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE article by Helen Gray Cone in the October Century on "Women in Literature" is one of a series of original articles by representative American women which are to be issued immediately in a book on "Women's Work in America." The work has been inspired and edited by Mrs. Annie Nathan Meyer, a trustee of Barnard College, and will be published by Henry Holt & Co.

A NEW monthly has been started by E. L. Kellogg & Co., of New York and Chicago, called Our Times. The plan of this paper is to give a clear idea of what is going on in the world from month to month. Though designed specially for teachers, it is of interest to all who wish to keep track of the current events of the world that contribute to its real progress. It gives all the important news of the month without the murders and scandals. A clear, comprehensive review of the contents is also given, with numerous suggestions as to teaching them.

Far and Near, a monthly journal devoted to the interests of working girls' societies, is to be started next month. The business management will be in the hands of the Critic Company, Lafayette Place, N. Y., and the editorial department under the control of the Auxiliary Society of the Association of Working Girls' Societies of New York. It is proposed to publish in this paper news of the various Working Girls' Societies in this country and England, and articles by the best talent that can be obtained on subjects of interest to all wage-earning women. It will also contain stories and poems, a summary of the important events of the month (in all parts of the world), and other departments of value and interest, including a series of short papers by club members, on topics chosen each month by the editors. Among those who have already promised to contribute articles are Grace H. Dodge, Clara Sidney Potter, Sarah Orne Jewett, Augustus Hoppin, Louise Chandler Moulton, Prof. George Harris, and Lucy Larcom. Far and Near will be edited by Maria Bowen Chapin, of New York, assisted by O. M. E. Rowe, of Boston, and Emily Morgan, of Hartford. The subscription price will be $1 per year, fifty cents to club members.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ALPHONSE DAUDET is reported to be seriously ill.

"SHIRLEY DARE" is the pseudonym of Mrs. Susan C. Powers, a well-known newspaper writer.

MME. MICHELET, the widow and collaborateur of the historian, is preparing a volume of his travels for the press.

GEN. BOULANGER, in reply to the "Coulisses du Boulangisme," will publish a book entitled "Les Vraies Coulisses."

MISS SADIE ELLIOT, daughter of the late Bishop of Georgia, according to the Boston Traveler, is the author of the novel, "Jerry," now appearing in Scribner's.

MAJOR VAN WISSMANN'S large book on his second African expedition is to be published at Frankfort-on-the-Oder in November. F. Klein-Chavelier, the Dusseldorf artist, has drawn the illustrations for it.

GLEESON WHITE, the young Englishman who compiled a volume of "Ballades, Rondeaux," etc., now published by D. Appleton & Co., has come to America to assist Mr. Montague Marks in editing The Art Amateur.

AFTER a lawsuit over the matter, E. H. House, who claims the authorship of the play, "The Prince and Pauper," made an agreement with S. L. Clemens and Abby Sage Richardson, whereby he was to receive one half the royalties paid for the play.

STEPNIAK, the famous Russian author, is coming to America in December. He will deliver a few lectures in this country. His subjects will be "Nihilism: its past history and prospects," "Siberian Exile" and "Count Tolstoi, as novelist and social reformer."

A BUST of Sydney Lanier, the poet, was unveiled October 4 at Macon, Ga. It is of bronze, mounted on a marble pedestal, and was presented to the Macon Library Association by a New York admirer of the poet, and is similar in design to the one presented to the Johns Hopkins University.

A LETTER by Charles Dickens describing the death from influenza of Grip—ominous name—the famous raven of "Barnaby Rudge," dated June 15, 1841, has just been published in The Manchester City News, to which it was communicated by Mr. Arthur Hallstone, of Manchester. The raven's last words were "Halloa, old girl!"

FATHER WILLIAM P. NEVILLE, of the Birmingham Oratory, who was appointed by Cardinal Newman to be his literary executor, requests those who possess letters from the Cardinal to send them to him, in order that they may be made use of in publishing selections from his correspondence. He promises that all such letters sent to him shall be carefully returned to their owners.

DR. H. SCHERER, the founder and former editor of the commercial journal Actionär, is said to be engaged on the completion of his "Allgemeine Geschichte des Welthandels," the first two volumes of which appeared as far back as the years 1852 and 1853, and were at once translated into English and French. The third volume will begin at the time of the declaration of independence of America.

GEORGE BANCROFT, the historian, celebrated his ninetieth birthday October 3. But for a gradual inevitable loss of muscular energy, and a very gradual fading of his powers of memory, Mr. Bancroft might seem a score of years younger than he is. According to a correspondent of the Washington Post "he still is an untiring reader, and keeps remarkably well up with the advanced thought of the times."

PAUL LEICESTER FORD, 97 Clark Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., being engaged in the preparation of an edition of the writings of Thomas Jefferson, and desiring to make it as complete as possible, requests that any one possessing any of Jefferson's letters or manuscripts will communicate with him. Or if such persons will loan these to Mr. Ford for a few days, he will guarantee their safe return; or, if they will have them copied at his expense, and will enclose a bill, he will gladly pay for the copying, and give due credit for such assistance in the work.

MRS. OLIPHANT is now well advanced with her "Memoirs of the Life of Laurence Oliphant," which Messrs. Blackwood & Sons expect to publish at an early date. The work will be looked forward to with keen curiosity, says the London Athenaeum, "for Mrs. Oliphant has been fortunate enough to secure a mass of Laurence Oliphant's private correspondence, commencing with letters written in his boyhood, which may afford a key to open up that singular double character which contains at once the clever and brilliant man of society and the studious and dreamy mystic. One side of Laurence Oliphant's character was so mysterious even to his friends that any light upon it coming from his internal revelations will be welcome, while the adventurous life of which he has afforded so many glimpses in his writings contains highly romantic elements. We understand that it is more especially to the religious and mystic side of his career that Mrs. Oliphant has devoted her attention."

MR. RUSKIN, says the St. James' Gazette, "is to issue two volumes of poetry, with accompanying plates, early next year. Whether the contents be new or old, gleanings of the past years or the harvest of advanced age, has not been divulged. Few of Ruskin's admirers know, and fewer collectors possess, the very rare volume of poems privately printed by him in 1850, for which the bookworm may hunt the British Museum Catalogue in vain. It is post octavo, runs to 283 pages, and is one of the scarcest books of which we know. The copy lying before us at the moment is stamped across the back Poems, J. R., and on the side the symbolical lyre appears—possibly a binder's freak perpetrated without the author's sanction. All the poems contained in the volume were written between the ages of fourteen and twenty-six, each being carefully assigned its date. The Oxford prize poem, "Salsette and Elephanta," written in 1839, takes up twelve of the pages, and an earlier poem "The Gipsies," runs to eighteen. It is in couplets, and was badly beaten in the Newdigate Competition of 1837, when Dean Stanley carried off the coveted honor.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE GROLIER CLUB is to give an exhibition of artistic posters in December. Mr. Samuel P. Avery will make the selections.

STREET & SMITH will publish at once, in their Select Series, "The Illegal Marriage," a tale of Southern life, by Hon. Evelyn Ashby.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has just ready a second series of the "Handbook of Biblical Difficulties," treating the literary and scientific problems in Scripture.

THE publishers of Puck will shortly issue Brunner's delightful series of short stories that have appeared in recent issues of Puck, under the title of "Short Sixes."

THE Senate voted to purchase, at a cost not exceeding $30,000, Thomas S. Townsend's extensive collection of data on the Civil War, known as his "Library of National Records," which was described in these columns some time ago.

HARPER & BROTHERS are to publish in this country Sir Walter Scott's "Journal," reproduced from the original at Abbotsford. It will be edited by David Douglas. The amount of matter is nearly double what Lockhart used in his biography of his father-in-law. There are two volumes.

MISS KATHARINE PEARSON WOODS, of Baltimore, whose "Metzerott, Shoemaker" and "The Mark of the Beast" have attracted so much interest, has written a new story entitled "A Web of Gold," which will be published shortly by Messrs. T. Y. Crowell & Co. It deals with the relations of labor and capital, and contains many brilliant and dramatic scenes and well-drawn characters.

HARPER & BROTHERS have received notification from Reuben B. Davenport, editor of the New Haven Morning News, that Capt. Charles King's book, "Campaigning with Crook," contains libellous matter, and that he proposes to bring suit against the author and publisher. The Harpers have forwarded the document to Capt. King and will for the present stop filling orders for the book.

CONSTRUING SECTION 50 OF THE TARIFF LAW. —Assistant Secretary Spaulding, of the Treasury Department, on the 9th inst. sent to the Collector of Customs at New York a telegram saying that "goods free under the present law, and warehoused under the provisions of the previous law, may now be withdrawn free." This is in harmony with an opinion rendered by Solicitor Hepburn of the Treasury, construing section 50 of the new Tariff act.

W. M. GOLDTHWAITE, No. 107 Nassau Street, New York, announces a new "Atlas of Westchester County," to be complete in one volume. Township plans and the outlines of districts are to be shown on a scale of from two to four inches to the mile, the closely built portions to be done on a larger scale. The maps are to show all block, lot and ward numbers and lot dimensions when obtainable. Locations of public buildings, manufactories and the larger private structures are to be indicated, materials of construction to be designated by colors, owners' names are to be given, also the lines of water service, sewers, farm boundaries, etc.

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish at once a cheap edition of Dilke's "Problems of Great Britain," in one volume.

SWAN SONNENSCHNEIN & Co., London, will publish shortly, in their Social Science Series, a description of the New York State Reformatory at Elmira, by Mr. Alexander Winter. The book will describe the life at the reformatory, and the methods employed in this interesting sociological experiment, which endeavors to translate into practice the most advanced penological theories of the day. Mr. Havelock Ellis is writing a preface to the book.

WILLIAM ANDREWS & Co., 1 Dock Street Hull, England, will issue in December "The Wordsworth Dictionary of Persons and Places," by J. R. Turin, who has also compiled "The Bibliography of Wordsworth." The new volume will give, besides the index and dictionary to persons and places, a collection of quotations from the poet's works, which will have an exhaustive index and a chronologically arranged list of the best of Wordsworth's poems. Besides the regular edition a large-paper edition of 250 copies will be printed and bound in similar style to "Knight's Library Edition of Wordsworth."

"THE SAGA LIBRARY," edited by William J. Norris with the assistance of Eirikr Magnusson, and to be published by Bernard Quaritch, will comprise "The Poetic Edda," "The Prose Edda," "The Volsunga Saga," "Heimskringla, or, Chronicles of the Kings of Norway," "The Orkney Saga," "The Sagas of Eric the Red and Thorfinn Karsefne (being the Tale of the Discovery of America in the Tenth Century)," "Gunnlaug's Saga," "Frithiof's Saga," and "Saga of Viglund the Fair," "Story of Grettir the Strong," "Egil's Saga," "Njal's Saga," "Eyrbyggja Saga," "Saga of the Laxdalers," "Hen Thorir's Saga," "Saga of Howard the Halt," "Saga of the Banded Men," and several others. The regular issue will be 5s. per volume, the large-paper edition will be £1 11s. 6d.

THE result of the inquiry made by the Society of Authors as to the extent to which pirated editions are introduced into the colonial book market, to the detriment of English holders of copyright, appears to be that in Australia and New Zealand present legislation is sufficient, and that in India the evil is but partial. But in Africa and other parts of the British dominions the 20 per cent. collected by the Custom-House on the published price of books registered at Stationers' Hall, even if carefully levied, appears, according to the current number of the Author, not to be a sufficient deterrent. The fact that the lists supplied to the Custom-House are often a year old or more, and that registration of books is frequently neglected too long, may partly account for the success of contraband enterprise. In any legislative attempts that may be made to correct the evil, the Society expresses itself confident of the co-operation of the Colonial Office. —Athenæum.

CORRECTION.—A representative of the firm of Sabiston & Murray, 916 Sixth Ave., New York City, has called upon us to deny the statement made in the circular of E. W. Dayton, manager of the estate of W. R. Jenkins, quoted in our last week's issue. The firm asserts that it does not claim, and never has claimed, to be the successor to W. R. Jenkins' business, and that it has made no purchases of any one on that representation.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis, will find it to their advantage to put after their firm name the word [Cash.]

CHRISTMAS!

THE most representative of the Christmas issues, having no special interests to represent, giving best value to both dealers and advertisers, and out first, is the Christmas issue of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. The cover will be tasteful and taking.

As usual, special articles on leading books, the finest specimen illustrations from others, full descriptive summary of new books and stationery novelties, reference price-lists covering the ILLUSTRATED WORKS, BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG, and other CHOICE BOOKS published during 1890, etc.

Furnished at the earliest possible date, orders recorded in order of receipt. As paper is made for it, we need prompt word. Prices are put below cost of manufacture, to insure the widest circulation to advertising.

To avoid delay it is absolutely necessary that copy for imprint, together with full directions for forwarding, should accompany the order. All packages sent by express unpaid, unless other shipping directions are given.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL

For 1890 (Eighteenth Year).

Large 8vo, 3430 pages. With Duplex Index. Cloth, net, $2.00.

The Trade List Annual for 1890 contains:

1. The latest CATALOGUES OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names and smaller lists at the end of the volume.
2. A complete list by author, title, and subject of all books recorded in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY from January to June, 1890, supplementing the ANNUAL CATALOGUE, 1889.
3. The "EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE" for 1890, which is used by the entire trade and educational interests as the most representative reference-list of School-books.

The above Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books.

The patent "DUPLEX INDEX" having given such general satisfaction, we are now applying it to all copies of the "Annual." Volumes supplied with the "DUPLEX INDEX" have the alphabet printed on the concave surface as well as on the margin of the page, which enables instantaneous reference, whether the book is open or shut.

Unless special shipping directions are received, copies will be despatched by express unpaid. Parties so desiring can have their copies sent by mail, or by pre-paid book-rate express for 80 cents per copy extra.

ROBERTS BROS.' NEW BOOKS

OUR NEW ENGLAND.

Her Nature Described by Hamilton Wright Mabie and some of Her Familiar Scenes Illustrated. The illustrations are photogravures (Gravure-Gilbo) from nature, with remarks drawn by Frank T. Merrill. Oblong quarto, limp cover, with photogravure design on Japanese paper, gilt edges, $4.00; cloth, illuminated design, $5.00.

The picture subjects are charming bits of nature, characteristic of New England, chosen from various localities by an expert photographer, and reproduced, with special attention to details, by the photogravure process.

Mr. Mabie's summary of the picturesqueness and grandeur of New England scenery is a clever bit of essay writing. His description of the climatic changes, of boy life in the old homestead and on the farm, the varied aspects of nature during the four seasons, its beauties so favorably compared with other countries, is unfolded with panoramic clearness, and is extremely fascinating.

To the New Englander afar, the book will be a happy reminder of his early home life, while to the resident it will be a source of pleasure and pride.

PLAIN TALES FROM THE HILLS. By RUDYARD KIPLING. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"Every one knows that it is not easy to write good short stories. Mr. Kipling has changed all that. Here are forty of them, averaging less than eight pages a piece; there is not a dull one in the lot. Some are tragedy, some broad comedy, some tolerably sharp satire. The time has passed to ignore or undervalue Mr. Kipling. He has won his spurs and taken his prominent place in the arena. This, as the legitimate edition, should be preferred to the pirated ones by such as care for honesty in letters."—Churchman.

Mr. Gronlund says: "I wrote the 'Co-operative Commonwealth' to cover the economic revolution; 'Ca Ira!' the historical revolution; and 'Our Destiny' the moral revolution."

Mr. Gronlund's new work is in the line of and supplementary to his previous volumes, "The Co-operative Commonwealth," and "Ca Ira; or, Danton in the French Revolution." It deals with those questions now agitating the public mind, and elucidates with power the principles which will be the governing elements in the "New Commonwealth," which he believes to be not far away.
